

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An audio rack has a first and a second storage location, the first storage location accepting a first electrical equipment that has a first width size, and the second storage location being 5 disposed below the first storage location and accepting a second electrical equipment that has a second width size that is smaller than the first width size, the width of the second storage location being smaller than that of the first storage location.

17